Die-cut missing error of 2017 U.S. Flag coil stamp listed

By Michael Baadke

One variety of the United States Flag forever coil stamp issued Jan. 27, 2017, has been found as a major error with all die cuts missing.

The error is now listed (as a pair) as United States Scott 5158a in the recently published Vol. 1A of the 2019 Scott Standard Postage Stamp Catalogue.

Two error coils of 100 were purchased by Gary Stiltner at the Wheelersburg post office in southern Ohio, near the Kentucky border, in October 2017.

Stiltner sent the coil strip of four pictured here to Linn's Stamp News for examination. The strip was also examined by Scott catalog editors for listing in the 2019 catalog.

The die-cut-missing error occurred on the coil of 100 stamps printed and processed by Banknote Corporation of America.

The stamps on the BCA coil include microprinted lettering "USPS" on the right end of the fourth red stripe on the flag and normally have gauge 11 vertical die cuts.

One error roll was cut into plate number strips of five, pairs and longer strips and auctioned online, according to Salem, Wis., stamp dealer

This 2017 United States Flag forever coil strip of four is a production error missing the die cuts that normally separate individual stamps. The error has been listed in Vol. 1A of the 2019 Scott Standard Postage Stamp Catalogue. Two coil rolls of 100 of the error variety were purchased in a southern Ohio post office in 2017.

U.S. Flag forever stamp error rolls reported er and philatelist Michael C. Mules of Fox River Stamps.

He purchased the second roll.

"The roll is entirely missing the die cuts," Mules said. "I have taken off a few pairs and a PNC [plate number coil] strip of seven, but the rest of the roll is intact and 100 percent die-cut omitted."

The 2017 U.S. Flag forever stamp was issued in five major varieties printed and processed by the U.S.

Postal Service's two contract printers.

Banknote Corporation of America printed a coil of 100 (Scott 5158) and a double-sided pane of 20 (5160).

Ashton-Potter created three varieties: a coil of 100 (Scott 5159), a double-sided pane of 20 (5161), and a pane of 18 designed to vend from automatic teller machines (5162).

The die-cut-missing error on the BCA coil is the first error reported on any of the five 2017 U.S. Flag stamp major varieties. ■

Previous owner claimed these 1895a plate number 12 strips of 5 to be “Untagged”. Only one way to find out....

LOOKS OK SO FAR, BUT EVEN THE MOST MINISCULE AMOUNT OF TAGGANT WILL RENDER THESE STRIPS TAGGED.....

What's the
